Let’s fix one data point

How many clicks will I get ranking #3 for a keyword?

Standard Variables

X = CTR of Position
Y = Search Volume
C = Clicks

Basic Formula

X*Y = C

We know this is wrong

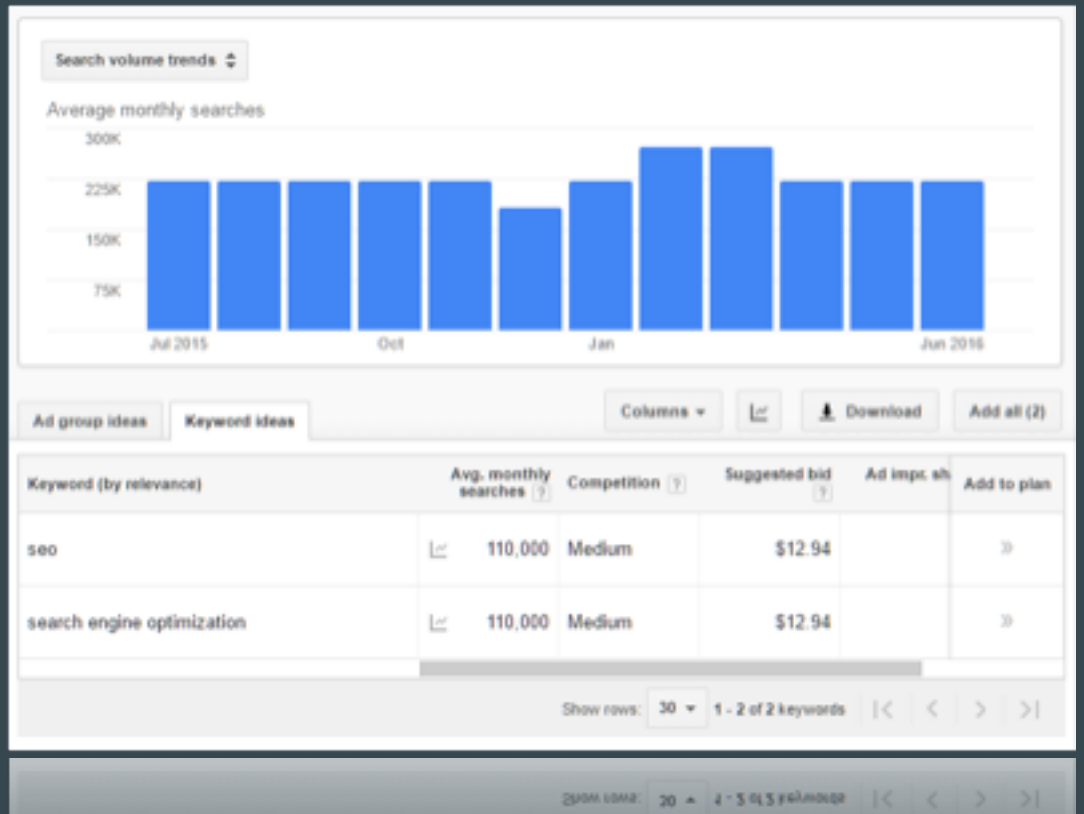
Keyword Planner Data

Misleading volume data due to grouping



LOG(G*D) = m(LOG(C))+b

Where...

- G is Google Keyword Planner traffic
- D is a guess at % of volume to be trusted as non-disambiguated
- C is clickstream data volume, which itself is likely modeled to remove selection bias

The Real Formula

$$X(E,F,P) * Y(G) = C$$

Where...

- E is the function for curve based on features.
- F is the function for total CTR based on features.
- P is the function for personalization.
- G is the function for disambiguation.

We do all of this to simply tell you...

You will get 3,218 clicks if you rank #3 for "ROI"
